Family Follow Up

It is important to be thankful to God, our heavenly Father, in every situation. Each night at the supper table, list, with your children, five 'thanks' that your family has for that day. At first, children will probably choose the obvious: my parents, my house, my pets, etc. As you continue to do this, encourage them to develop a thankful attitude for the not-so-obvious: "I'm sorry Aunt Karen is sick, but I am thankful we were able to make cards for her today;" "I'm sorry I didn't get to go to Trevor's birthday part, but I'm thankful I got to play a game with Dad here at home."
